Meet every Sunday afternoon during August with the Herbert Bible Class. "It's different."

Col. Jno. F. Folk announces himself in this issue as a candidate for re-election as county treasurer.

Mr. J. Wesley Crum, Jr., announces himself in this issue as a candidate for the house of representatives.

Bamberg and Branchville played a game of base ball in the rain here yesterday afternoon. Bamberg won, but the score was so large no trouble was taken to note it.

Bamberg won the entire series of three games of base ball played here last week against Orangeburg. We have not the scores of Thursday's and Friday's games, but Bamberg won.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Sheridan in this city will regret to learn of the death of their eldest daughter, Miss Louise, which occurred at their home in Walterboro last Saturday.

Save your Sunday afternoons. H. W. B. of A.

The Denmark Realty Company is delivering the goods. Try them if you want to buy or sell real estate or stocks. C. H. MILHOUS, Manager.

This is the season of year when the board of health and the city authorities should be especially vigilant. Our health record so far this year is fine, and with a little care as to sanitary conditions it can be kept so. Keep the town clean and there will be no sickness of consequence.

Now is the time to buy real estate. It is going at a price that will not grow less. We have some attractive bargains. C. H. MILHOUS, Manager Denmark Realty Co.

Mr. Parks, special agent of the South-eastern Tariff Association, last week finished his work in Bamberg as to rerating the town, and in a short time now our insurance rates will be reduced. The figures and data obtained will have to be gone over and the various reductions figured out before a new rate sheet for Bamberg will be issued.

The many friends of Mr. J. J. Hughes and family will regret to learn of his death which occurred at Steadman, Lexington county, last Wednesday. Mr. Hughes lived in Bamberg for many years, but a few years ago he moved to Union, where his health broke down, he then moving to Steadman. Mr. Hughes was a good man, and his many friends here will regret to learn of his death.

"H. W. B. of A.?"

If there is a lack of news in this newspaper this week, we can't help it. We've just been too sick to write anything or hunt up any news since last Saturday. Fact is we are just about on the lift, and if we can possibly raise the money by borrowing or otherwise we are going away for a couple of weeks to rest up and get straight again. This hot weather and so much work at night recently has certainly put us to the bad.

Free's Pressing Club is the place to have your clothes cleaned and pressed. Dry cleaning done. We send for and deliver your clothes and guarantee satisfaction. Phone No. 57.

Protracted Meeting.

The protracted meeting will begin at George's Creek Baptist church, Govan, S. C., the fifth Sunday in July, at 11:30 o'clock.

The Rev. R. L. Bolton, pastor of Valence church, New Orleans, La., will assist the pastor, and the public is cordially invited.

PAUL A. BOLEN, Pastor.

The Major's Value.

General W. H. Lemon, of the grand army of the republic, was recounting at a dinner at Lawrence, Kan., tales of the civil war.

"Major Bunks," he said smiling, "was a pompous chap. The boys had a good deal of fun over his exchange. "It seems that on a very dark night a stalwart Confederate took the major prisoner. This fact, together with the prisoner's return to camp, was signalled to headquarters tersely:

"Major Bunks, captured during night march, exchanged later for two plugs tobacco."—Minneapolis Journal.

NEWS AND NOTICES.

Pastor Frier returned Saturday from Olar, where he had been helping Pastor Baxley in a meeting during the week. He reports a good meeting, with large, appreciative congregations, and 17 additions to the church, 14 of which were by experience and baptism. He filled his pulpit here Sunday morning and evening, preaching in the morning on Christian Idealism and in the evening on the Great Question of the Ages.

The Sunday-school came near the 100 mark in attendance Sunday morning. Pretty good for summer.

Pastor Frier announced Sunday morning that he had secured the services of Rev. L. J. Bristow, of Williamston, S. C., in a meeting in our church the first of September. Bro. Bristow is one of our leading preachers of the State, and we are fortunate in securing him. Hope to have our new carpet down and pews in by that time.

See programs of fifth Sunday meetings elsewhere.

Oppose Greenville Dispensary.

Greenville, July 17.—At their closing meeting the members of the Greenville District Conference of the Methodist church, in session here, yesterday morning adopted a resolution expressing strong opposition to the re-establishment of the county dispensary in this county, which will probably be an issue in the general election this fall.

The resolution adopted was drawn up by the temperance committee as its report and several strong talks were made by a number of the delegates.

Between sixty and seventy delegates have been present at the district conference, which opened Wednesday night, closing its session yesterday morning. Delegates were elected to the annual conference, which will be held in Charleston December 1st.

In writing us the other day to change the address of his paper, our friend, Mr. W. M. Oxner, formerly principal of the Olar high school, but who resigned to go to Ridgeway, says: "Your paper is certainly one of the best."

TWO KILLED AT CROSSING.

Fatal Crash of Train into Wagon Near Gaffney.

Gaffney, July 18.—A most distressing accident occurred at Beaver Dam church, three miles south of Gaffney, to-day, when No. 37, the Southern's vestibuled limited, ran into a team of mules and wagon at the railway crossing, near the church. The wagon was occupied by S. W. Wyatt and his two sons, Hamlet and Luther. The father was killed instantly. Luther, the eldest son, was fatally injured, and the other boy was only slightly hurt. Both mules were killed and the wagon was torn into kindling wood. Both of the boys were taken into Spartanburg on the train and inquest is being held over the dead man.

The crossing where the accident occurred is near an abrupt curve, where the engineer could not possibly see any distance in front of the train. It is said by some that the engineer did not whistle nor ring the bell for the crossing. Fragments of the mules were carried a distance of five hundred yards. Wyatt was an industrious and hard-working man and leaves a large family.

Fearfully Injured, but Still Lives.

Spartanburg, July 18.—Lucius Wyatt, who was brought to Spartanburg and placed in the city hospital to-day after the terrible accident on the Southern, near Thickett Station, in which his father, T. Wyatt, was killed, and he himself supposed to be fatally injured, was reported at a late hour to-night as resting well.

He went to sleep at 8 o'clock and was perfectly conscious at the time. Lucius Wyatt is 30 years of age. His injuries are as follows: Three broken ribs, upper teeth knocked out, skull fractured in three places, lower lip cut off and is supposed to be internally injured. Physicians do not believe there is any hope for him.

The Hughes Case.

Editor The Bamberg Herald: Owing to the fact that there seems to be quite a lot of misunderstanding in regard to the Hughes matter, I ask space in your paper to give the facts in the case in so far as they pertain to me. To do so it is necessary to briefly review the case.

On the Sunday night in question I was at my home in the country. I was called up on the phone and was asked to assist the deputy sheriff in making the arrest. I said that I would go. Shortly after the phone rang Deputy Sheriff T. J. Rentz came for me. He was driving the sheriff's horse and buggy. Before reaching the Hughes house we stopped at Mr. Charlie Beard's home, some little distance this side of the Hughes place, where we ascertained that Mrs. Hughes had sought and found protection, and was no longer in any immediate danger. We then returned to our homes.

Monday morning about 8 o'clock Deputy Sheriff Rentz came again to my house driving the sheriff's horse and buggy and I went with him. We went to the Hughes farm and found Hughes there. He refused to be arrested, saying he would die first, but agreed to come peacefully to Bamberg if we would first get Mrs. Hughes, who was still at Mr. Beard's, to come with us. We went for Mrs. Hughes. Later we ascertained from a negro woman that Hughes had fled. We trailed him to Oak Grove school house, near Ehrhardt, where we lost all trace of him. These are the simple unbiased facts in the case, and I feel it due both to myself and the public that they should be known.

W. M. McCUE.

Death of J. J. Hughes.

Steadman, S. C., July 16.—Mr. John J. Hughes, of this place, died on July 13 at his home after a lingering illness. Mr. Hughes moved here from Union with his family a few months ago to regain his health. The deceased suffered from an attack of measles two years ago while living in Union and since that time has been in a critical condition. He was a good citizen and leaves to mourn his death a wife, several children, and a host of friends.

Card of Thanks.

Editor The Bamberg Herald: Please allow me space in the columns of your paper in which to thank the good people of Ehrhardt for their kindness to us in our recent bereavement, the death of my brother, William. Such kind and sympathetic attention can never be forgotten and is deeply appreciated by

A. E. KEARSE.

Adam's Run, S. C.

DEATH OF A YOUNG LADY.

Miss Louis Sheridan Passes Away in Walterboro.

Walterboro, July 16.—Miss Louise Sheridan, daughter of Prof. and Mrs. H. G. Sheridan, died this morning at 6 o'clock. Miss Sheridan was in her twentieth year, and had been confined to her bed for several weeks with a lingering disease.

Miss Sheridan was a young lady of many lovable traits of character and will be missed by a large circle of relatives and friends. The funeral will be held Sunday morning at 10 o'clock, at the Methodist church, after which interment will be made at Live Oak cemetery.

Reunion of Company G.

The annual reunion of Company G. 1st S. C. V., will take place at Bethesda church on Thursday, July 28th, 1910. All are invited to attend and bring well-filled baskets. All Confederate soldiers are especially invited. We will have several distinguished speakers on the occasion. The following committees are appointed: On music—G. W. Folk. On grounds—John Pearson, Jasper Zeigler, P. K. Hughes.

J. B. HUNTER,

J. C. COPELAND,

W. T. BEARD.

Executive Committee.

Good Roads Meeting.

The good roads meeting held in this city Tuesday, by the good roads party sent out by the Columbia Daily Record, was a most inspiring one, and it is to be regretted that there was not a larger crowd present. It was a damp, disagreeable day, and as a consequence not as many people from the county were present as was hoped would show their appreciation of this important subject by their presence. Good roads are more important to the farmer than anybody else, and he of all others should be interested, for the farmer pays the tax of poor highways.

The meeting was held in the town hall at eleven o'clock, being presided over by J. F. Carter, Esq., president of the Bamberg Business Men's League, the meeting being held under the auspices of the league. It was the purpose of the Record to hold this meeting in connection with the county newspaper, and The Herald was selected, but we felt that the League was the proper body to handle it, and we therefore turned it over to that organization, giving such assistance however as lay in our power.

Mr. Carter introduced Mr. C. Wardlaw Moorman, of Columbia, who explained the object of this good roads campaign inaugurated by the Record, Columbia's afternoon paper, and stated that they were touring the State in automobiles and holding meetings in every county in the interest of better highways. Mr. Moorman then introduced Mr. D. H. Winslow, from the good roads department of the national department of agriculture, whose services had been secured for this campaign through the efforts of Commissioner E. J. Watson.

Mr. Winslow made a most practical address and it was indeed interesting to every one present. He discussed the subject from every standpoint, and it would have been well if every farmer in the county had heard him. His address was not that of a theorist but a practical road builder, and he is thoroughly posted on every department of road work. Those of us who had shown an interest in this subject for years were amazed at how little we knew of it.

At the conclusion of Mr. Winslow's address President Carter introduced Hon. S. G. Mayfield, who has always taken a live interest in better highways, and it is largely due to his efforts that the roads of Bamberg county have been improved so much in the past ten years. Mr. Mayfield as usual delivered a fine address, practical and full of admirable ideas.

At the conclusion of Mr. Mayfield's address, Mr. Moorman gave plans of organization, which were discussed by several gentlemen present. An organization for Bamberg county was then gone into, to be known as the Bamberg County Good Roads and Drainage League. The following officers were elected: S. G. Mayfield, president; W. D. Rhoad, vice-president; A. W. Knight, secretary; J. A. Hunter, treasurer; advisory committee, S. G. Mayfield, J. F. Carter, J. W. Hill, A. W. Knight, Jno. F. Folk, H. C. Folk.

Mr. Mayfield suggested that it would be a good idea for the county officers without opposition to discuss the good roads question at the county campaign meetings during the time allotted them, and he suggested that Col. Jno. F. Folk, who is unopposed for treasurer, discuss good roads at the campaign meetings, which he will no doubt do. It is possible that the county chairman will be asked to give some time to other speakers on the same subject.

A vote of thanks was tendered Messrs. Moorman and Winslow for their presence and addresses. The meeting then adjourned.

Another Pleasant Day at Rivers' Bridge.

Kearse, July 15.—When we wrote you last 'twas of a scene of gaiety "where youth and pleasure meet."

To-day we write you of different scenes, of different ideals, though no less a happy occasion. This was the reunion of Confederate veterans of Camp River's Bridge. This reunion was celebrated last Wednesday, the 13th, and is an annual affair. As usual, the gathering was at the memorial grounds and in sight of the old battle ground.

The day was ideal, the dinner a feast, and the ice cream and cold drinks all that could be desired.

The crowd was not as large as we wished for, still all entered into the spirit of the occasion and a happy day was spent.

We regretted to hear of the death of Mr. William Kearse, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Kearse, of Colston, which occurred at this time and kept many old soldiers away. Our sincere sympathies are extended to Mr. and Mrs. Kearse.

The exercises of the day begun at 11:30. The camp was reorganized by electing the same old officers; then followed an address by Rev. W. M. Jones, of Williston, which was appreciated by both old and young. He tells the rising generation to honor the principle for which our fathers fought, to be proud of his valor, but to do this without enmity towards our neighbors across Mason and Dixon's line. He expressed the cause of the war as Tennyson did in his "Charge of the Light Brigade"—"some one had blundered," and the "blunders" were not all among Southern leaders. At the close of his address he suggested that some effort be made to preserve the old battle ground by raising the breast works, which had been partially cut away, and placing cannon there, to tell the story of the fight to future generations. This suggestion met with no response at this time, but we feel sure the cause is not lost. Has there ever been a worthy cause presented to the people of the "happy valley" that met with no response? We think not.

We hear of battle grounds being preserved all over our Southland and in the North; in such a manner that the whole history of the battle is told. Why should we sit idle, and make no effort to preserve this old battle ground right at our doors? Some will say, "But this was only an insignificant skirmish—a mere walk over, and is hardly worth remembering." Be it as it may, still this sacred spot tells the story of the valor of the Southern soldier, and 'twas here that many brave men from our sister State laid down their lives for the cause they represented. At this time they fully realized that the cause was lost, for their star of hope had waned. Still they fought with Spartan courage and died as heroes should.

We notice that the ranks of these old veterans are growing thin, for each year some are "marshalled out of life's service" and go to join their comrades in a land where they "dream of battle fields no more, days of danger, nights of waking." Ere the years are many this brave land will have passed away; reunions of Confederate veterans will be a thing of the past, and the story of the sixties will only be told by the dry facts of history. Perhaps we'll hear of this valiant band occasionally in song and story, but this is not sufficient. We need living monuments to cause the young to pause in life's march and think of the cause for which our fathers fought. Let us preserve the ruins. Father Ryan has said "A land without ruins is a land without memories."

BETRAYED BY A WOMAN.

Missing Bank Teller Falls Into Hands of Officers.

Philadelphia, July 18.—J. Howard Lowery, alias James Johnson, wanted in Utica, N. Y., for alleged embezzlement of more than $100,000 from the Utica City National Bank, was betrayed into the hands of a detective here to-day by a woman, and taken to New York State before the local authorities were aware of what was going on. His arrest was due to the perseverance of Daniel J. Kelleher, a detective of New York. Lowery was a note teller in the bank and disappeared last April while an examiner was going over the bank books.

Kelleher got a clew, which led to Wilmington, Del. He learned that a woman there was in correspondence with the former teller and spotted her for nearly a week. Last night, as the detective was standing in an alley near the woman's house, he noticed her leave with a suit case and he followed her to Philadelphia and forced her to tell Lowery's address in this city. He took her back to Wilmington, leaving a guard to see that she should not be able to communicate with Lowery and returned here with another detective. They stationed themselves near the house on North 16th street, where the woman said Lowery was living, and when Lowery came out arrested him.
